Requirements

In accordance with the Bylaws of the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education:

No member of the CCNE Board shall concurrently serve on the Board of Directors of AACN. Additionally, individuals serving on the CCNE Board and/or a CCNE committee are not permitted to concurrently serve on the decision-making body of another national nursing accrediting organization (or its parent organization). No current member of the CCNE Board may serve as a consultant to a baccalaureate, graduate, or residency/fellowship program in nursing within CCNE's scope of accreditation review. It is the intent of this provision to avoid conflict of interest and the appearance of conflict of interest with any individual or organization that may influence the CCNE accreditation process. (p. 9)

Board members of national nursing accrediting organizations and their parent organizations, including AACN, are not eligible for election to the CCNE Board of Commissioners. Those individuals serving on the decision-making body of another national nursing accrediting organization (or its parent organization) should confirm that their term on those bodies would conclude prior to the start of their term on the CCNE Board or Nominating Committee, if elected. Those seeking election to the CCNE Board of Commissioners should complete their current term prior to assuming a position on the decision-making body of another national nursing accrediting organization (or its parent organization), including the AACN Board of Directors.

Individuals elected to serve on the Board should give high priority to the work of CCNE. Board members are expected to be available and responsive to the CCNE staff and other colleagues on the Board. Board membership requires attendance at two 4-day Board meetings per year (typically in April/May and September/October) and a 3-day Board retreat (typically in January), along with preparation and travel time. In months when there is not an in-person meeting, there is usually a 2-3-hour meeting via videoconference. Board membership also may include appointments to internal or external committees and attendance at some events as a representative of CCNE. Travel expenses are reimbursed by CCNE in accordance with CCNE policy and travel guidelines. The 2027 Board meeting dates have not yet been determined.

Nominating Committee membership requires participation in 2-3 meetings via videoconference in the spring, along with preparation time.

For both Board and Nominating Committee members, participating in orientation is required. Also, regular access to a computer, the internet, and personal email account is essential since communications and reports are transmitted and reviewed electronically.

Responsibilities

Board member responsibilities, in addition to attendance at in-person and virtual meetings, are likely to include participation on committees, review of accreditation materials and other confidential documents, and assistance with CCNE activities (e.g., evaluator training, workshops, and forums on accreditation). In preparation for the meetings, Board members are responsible for reviewing self-study documents, team reports, and progress reports, and making accreditation decisions in accordance with CCNE procedures and guidelines. While the time commitment varies from month to month, Board members should expect to devote significant time to review programs' accreditation materials in advance of the scheduled meetings.

Nominating Committee responsibilities include screening nominations and developing a slate of qualified candidates for the CCNE Board of Commissioners and the CCNE Nominating Committee. There are no in-person meetings of the Nominating Committee. The time commitment is minimal compared to other CCNE committees and Board service.

Terms of Service

Membership on the CCNE Board is limited to two full terms; a full term is 3 years. Membership on the Nominating Committee is limited to a 1-year term; however, one incumbent will remain on the committee for a second term to serve as chair of the committee.

The terms of office for individuals elected to the CCNE Board of Commissioners and Nominating Committee will begin on January 1, 2027.

Process

CCNE seeks wide representation in its Board and its committee membership and will consider factors such as geographic location, education, accreditation expertise, professional experience, type of employing institution, nomination materials, references, and other factors promoting a diverse Board/committee.

Nominations for either the Board of Commissioners or the Nominating Committee may be submitted by institutions, organizations, Board or committee members (except Nominating Committee members), or other interested parties. Self-nominations are accepted. All nomination materials must be complete and received by the deadline.

Nominees may be requested to meet (e.g., via phone or videoconference) with one or more representatives of the Nominating Committee, at the request of the committee chair.

Timeline

Following the CCNE Nominating Committee's consideration of nomination materials in the spring, CCNE staff will notify all nominees of the results. Selected candidates will be required to submit a brief candidate statement and will be placed on the ballot for elections to be held in late spring.
