

Bruce McCabe, PhD

Futurist, Writer, and International Keynote Speaker

Dr. Bruce McCabe is an international futurist who presents on the technologies changing our world. He is passionate about people and helping build a better future, and travels constantly to explore how people innovate and adopt new technologies. Bruce has a PhD in organizational and technological innovation and has served as an innovation advisor to a long list of multinationals, governments, and universities. He has founded or co-founded several ventures including KPMG's first Innovation Advisory practice, and a cloud-based disaster recovery service. He has delivered more than 400 presentations on five continents. When not presenting, he likes to explore the future by writing novels.