THE Meeting Place for Chief Academic Nursing Officers!

Every Spring, more than 350 Chief Academic Nursing Officers come together in Washington, DC for the AACN Deans Annual Meeting. In an intimate setting, Deans and Directors from AACN Member Schools of Nursing engage face-to-face with peers and noted thought leaders to discuss organizational and legislative priorities as well as opportunities impacting nursing education.

Energizing and interactive learning formats provide a rich learning environment for participants and promote solution sharing. Carefully selected speakers and content experts present thought-provoking views and trend-setting ideas to help strengthen your role as an academic nursing leader.

Spring Executive Development Series

A program designed for leaders in higher education to gain high-level leadership and management skills. Tailored to the challenges and opportunities of those that serve as the Chief Academic Nursing Officer (Deans/Directors), this series examines Leadership to Achieve the Vision. Seasoned academic nursing leaders share their experiences and expertise offering tips and tools for faculty and staff engagement, how to develop your leadership team, managing and mitigating risk, and how to overcome obstacles and barriers in leadership to effectively implement your vision.

Impact and shape the future of nursing education
